"All nuclear weapons should be abolished."

Fiona, 34, Artist

“The reason I think nuclear weapons should be abolished is because of the money that it would save our country. This money could be put into schools and hospitals where it could do good instead of harm.”

You say: __________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________

Alexander, 15, Student

“We need our nuclear weapons as a deterrent against war with other nuclear powers. Nuclear weapons are horrible but so are wars and if they keep us from having a war with another country than I am all for them!”

You say: __________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________

Alan, 70, Astronomer

“As well as the immediate loss of life there are also the long term implications for the environment of using a nuclear weapon. The site where a nuclear weapon is used remains radioactive for many years.”

You say: __________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________

Jessica, 32, Teacher

“Unfortunately you can’t uninvent nuclear weapons. If we get rid of our nuclear weapons than we would be defenceless against countries or rogue states that kept their nuclear arsenal.”

You say: __________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________

Anton, 34, Lecturer

“I just think it is wrong to be able to kill so many people with just one weapon. And the way people die with a nuclear bomb is not pretty - I’ve seen the photographs taken in the aftermath of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.”

You say: __________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________

Summary - __________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________

Lost for words? See: http://www.peep.ac.uk/content/776.0.html